

HIGH LEVERAGE PRACTICES

FOR STUDENT SUCCESS

DESCRIPTION

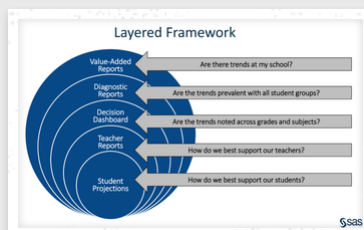

Using a team-based learning approach, you will have the opportunity to learn how to align the tools and resources available to you to implement high quality teaching that will impact student success. Dive deeply into your achievement data to see how it can be utilized at your teacher, building, and district levels to ensure all students have access to a rigorous curriculum and a strong multi-tiered system of supports. Reflect on how collaborative learning empowers teachers and administrators to enhance student learning. Gain insight on how administrators support teachers in order to effectively plan, deliver, and assess instruction. Network with educators across our region.

Achievement Component

The Achievement Component includes two graded measures: the academic indicators, which measure how many students pass the state test and the Performance Index which measures how well the students do on those tests.

Component Weighting:
 Indicators Met – 25%
 Performance Index – 75%
